

Don't need any cloths. Horace has sent me more than I can ever wear out and the under cloths that you sent me are still as comfortable as ever and will last me through the Winter.

You wrote about catching foxes but that is mighty hard to do.

If I went to the trouble to make a pen as you suggest I don't think a fox would do about it.

I put a chicken in a coop once and <sup>set</sup> steel traps around it but the foxes wouldn't go about it.

I also made a trap out of hardware cloth about 2 ft. sq. and  $3\frac{1}{2}$  ft long and set it several Winters and finally caught one fox in it. but have never been able to catch another.
